

Value

Heatmap showing the relationship between Len (Y-axis) and thresh (X-axis). The color scale ranges from dark purple (low) to light blue (high). The heatmap shows that the relationship is generally weak, with some slight increases in values for higher thresh and Len combinations.