

Value

Heatmap showing the relationship between threshold values (tresh.2 to thresh.16) and sequence lengths (Len=100 to Len=2000). The color scale ranges from dark red (low) to blue (high). The heatmap shows that for lower sequence lengths, the relationship between threshold and value is more complex, while for higher sequence lengths, the values are generally higher and more uniform across thresholds.