

Value

Heatmap showing the relationship between threshold values (tresh.2 to thresh.16) and sequence lengths (Len=100 to Len=2000). The color scale ranges from dark purple (low) to light blue (high). The heatmap shows that for lower sequence lengths, the relationship is more uniform across thresholds, while for higher lengths, the relationship becomes more complex, with some thresholds showing higher values than others.